About the Artist

Born in Northern Ireland, Hazel Nicholls came to London to study at Camberwell School of Arts. Hazel loves Johnny Cash and Dolly Parton, the seaside, ten-pin bowling, charity shops, fuzzy felt and childhood toys. Her work is chiefly influenced by her longstanding love of cross stitch sewing and an interest in old phrases and sayings. She learnt screen-printing three years ago and continues to experiment with the medium. Her work has been exhibited alongside established artists such as Ryan, Quentin Blake, and the Chapman Brothers.
